

Prof. Osondu Akoma

Professor Osondu Akoma is a professor of Limnology/Algology with research interest straddling subject areas like hydrobiology and hydrogeography, algal systematics, pollution studies and water quality assessment, marine environmental management and blue economy. As a passionate and consummate academic, he has a preference for student-centred active learning and application of ICT tools in the teaching and learning process.

He is a member of several professional bodies which include; Botanical Society of Nigeria, Nigerian Society for Plant Protection, International Phycological Society etc. He is the current President of Nigeria Phycological Society, a Fellow and Secretary general of Freshwater Biological Association of Nigeria, member, African Quality Assurance Network, member, Nigerian Bioinformatics Research and Education Network (NBREN) amongst others. He is a reviewer of several local and international learned journals and currently the Editor-in Chief of Benson Idahosa University Journal of Basic and Applied Science (BIUJBAS – the flagship journal of the Faculty of Science, Benson Idahosa University) and Webmaster/Database Administrator and Online Content Manager of Ethiopian Journal of Environmental Studies and Management.

He is a recipient of the Certificate of Achievement (Distinction Plus) in Artificial Intelligence (AI) awarded at successful completion of 13-week practical training on Artificial Intelligence (AI) for Teaching, Research and Community service, January 22nd to April 26th, 2024. Awarded by National Universities Commission in partnership with National Open University of Nigeria (under the auspices of the NUC Strategy Advisory Committee) and the Virtual Institute for Capacity Building in Higher Education (VICBHE). He holds a Certificate of Merit, Training Course on Practical Skills for Delivering CCMAS in an Online Learning Environment, June 14th to August 15th 2023. Awarded by Virtual Institute for Capacity Building in Higher Education (VICBHE) in collaboration with the national Universities Commission (NUC) and National Open University of Nigeria (NOUN).